

Geographic & Inequality Analysis

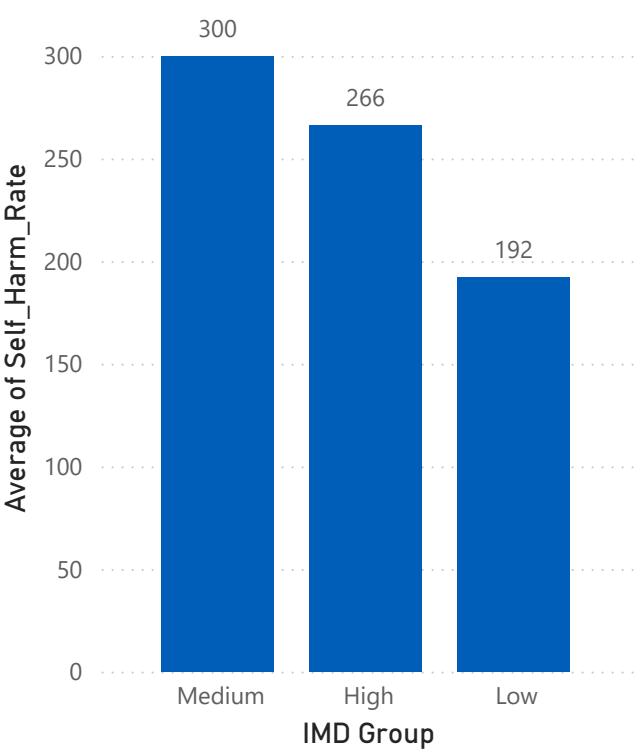

Geographic Distribution of Self-Harm Admissions Across Local Authorities

Top Local Authorities by Self-Harm Admission Rate

Self-Harm Admission Rates by Deprivation Group

Key Insight: Self-harm admissions are high across both medium and high deprivation areas. This suggests that deprivation alone does not fully explain mental health burden, which indicates the need to consider additional local risk factors.